

Making a Pattern for Slippers

Step 1. When making a pattern for slippers, first trace one of the feet of the person you want the slipper to fit. Have that person stand on a hard surface (not a rug), then trace the foot as you hold your pen or pencil straight up and down. Be sure to use a piece of paper that extends at least 2 inches all around the foot.

Step 2. Look at the tracing and determine the midline of the foot.

Step 3. Draw a line lengthwise down the middle of the foot tracing.

Step 4. Draw a line 1 inch from the tip of the big toe, perpendicular to the midline of the foot. Do the same thing 1 inch from the heel.

Step 5. Repeat with the sides of the foot so that you have drawn a rectangle with the foot tracing centered in the middle.

Step 6. Cut out the rectangle and fold the paper in half lengthwise, keeping the tracing on the outside. Fold the paper in half again as shown. You should have one-quarter of the foot tracing showing.
